TOMATO MITE FOUND FOR FIRST TIME IN STATE

A new insect pest has arrived to plague Virginians.

At least, says Arthur P. Morris, associate entomologist at VPI, it is the first time the tomato russet mite has been identified in the state. The mites were found on home garden tomatoes in Arlington County. It has been attracting considerable attention in some of the eastern states in recent years. It was found in Pennsylvania and New Jersey for the first time last year.

Northern states which have obtained southern grown plants have been troubled about the mite, and this report, Morris says, will probably have some bearing on Virginia tomato plant growers who supply plants to the northern states and canada.

Gardeners who suspect the presence of the mite should contact their county agents.

Also reported is a heavy outbreak of the fall armyworm in late corn in Botetourt County. Farmers there and in other areas where the armyworm appears are advised to ask their county agents for a copy of Bulletin 1999, "Habits and Control of the Fall Armyworm."

Immediate destruction or working up of old tobacco beds, and of any plants and weeds in the beds, is advised. If this is not done, the old beds may serve as a good place for field infestations next year.

Many reports of damage from the elm leaf beetle on elm trees have been received during the past two weeks. Heavy injury is reported in Patrick.

Bollworms are invading cotton in Greenville County, and agents and farmers in all cotton counties are being asked to check the fields for this pest. Sudden outbreaks of bollworms can be costly this late in the season, as the damage is usually to bolls that the plants cannot replace because of the short time until harvest.

FENCING FARM LAND TAKES SOME KNOW-HOW

There're some tricks of the when it comes to putting up fencing, and apparently many ers don't know them.

Agricultural engineers say most Virginia farmers doing wire fences with bracing, and at the same attaching and stretching improperly. Unhappy results expected.

The engineers say one lasting fences depend on that will last 20 years or heavy, good quality wire located and constructed and wire, wrapped at unit, stretched tightly and with fast holding staple

Durable woods such as locust will last 15 years. non-durable woods such creosote, penta-chlorophenol mosis salts will last 10 to Brace post units should inches diameter at top, and 2½ to 4 inches.

The wire should have a ing of zinc for protection rust. Heavy gauge wire longer. Select wire according farm needs. Three or four of barbed wire are enough A combination of woven barbed wire is needed cattle and sheep. As combination for general is a 32-inch woven wire strands of barbed wire a height of 48 inches.

Put brace in line of a at places to hold the wire desired tightness for the the fence. A big factor in is that the braces are prepared for stretching with no bolding, except for corner don't do the job. On level units may be put as far apart. On hilly land, they should be placed where a change, such as at the bottom of hills. The bottom with the diagonal No. 9 makes the strongest unit. Put the wire on the side" of the posts. At the and end of each section should extend around the be attached to the next wires. Stretch tightly by a block-and-tackle. Fasten the wire. Use 1¼-inch staples shaped strong hold staples wood. On line posts use staples, staples should but not tight on the wire, using woven wire and leave sure the first strand of barbed is not more than 2 inches woven wire.

Blue Hornets Lose Opener In Last Seconds

The Appomattox Blue Hornets lost a tough 7 to 6 football game to Bassett in the last 30 seconds of the game here last Friday night. The Blue Hornets showed lack of experience and could not start much offense when they had the ball. The Bassett team, led by Ronnie Vaughan fielded an experienced and veteran team. It was much the same team they had last year, when Appomattox won by a 12 to 0 score.

With a few games, the local team will improve and the boys will be showing a better than average brand of football to the fans. On offense John Rothgeb and Teddy Mitchell were outstanding. On defense, Jerry George, Tommie O'Brien and Dietz Rothgeb showed up well.

The team travels to Roanoke to meet a strong William Fleming High School team this Friday night, and A. H. S. will be the underdog in this game again this year as they were last year. However, the boys have shown improvement in practice sessions this week and hope for a good showing.

Dickersons Hold Reunion

Richardson, Wayne and Rudy; Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Richardson, Catherine, Cynthia and Jane; Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Carter, Mrs. R. E. Carwile, and Mrs. Jennie Johnson.

All reported a most enjoyable day and voted to make it an annual occasion.

MRS. GEORGE T. MARSH

Mrs. Virginia Davis Marsh, 77, wife of Mr. George Thomas Marsh, died Saturday morning at the home of a daughter, Mrs. D. A. Pugh, of Route 1, Appomattox.

Born in Appomattox, July 15, 1877, she was the daughter of John L. and Eliza Farrar Davis.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by five daughters, Mrs. D. A. Pugh; Mrs. A. V. Jones, Newport News; Mrs. W. F. Woodall, Mrs. A. T. Powell, Mrs. E. R. Davis, all of Lynchburg; four sons, Herman Marsh, Norfolk; Randolph Marsh, Norfolk; Harold Marsh, Gladys, and Ashby Marsh, Lynchburg.

Funeral services were held Monday at 2:00 P. M. at the home of Mrs. Pugh. Services were conducted by the Rev. David L. Bailey, assisted by the Rev. Terrell Brown, the Rev. D. W. Pegninger and Dr. Carl A. Collins, Jr. Burial was in the Evergreen Cemetery. Active pallbearers were: Herman Jones, Vernon Marsh, Ernest Chappell, Lemuel Hawkins, Preston Davis and Fred Wooldridge.

MR. M. W. PAGE

A 32-year-old forest ranger, and a native of Appomattox, was found dead in the woods near Donaldsonville, Georgia last week-end. The ranger, M. W. Page, was believed to have been killed when he fell from a tree while gathering pine cones. Page, father of three children, left his office about 8:30 Monday morning to gather cones. His body was found about 8:30 that night.

W. B. Page, and two brothers and three sisters, all live in Appomattox.

Two other sisters live in Lynchburg.

Womans Club Requests Town To Keep and Improve Park

The Woman's Club of Appomattox unanimously adopted a resolution at its first fall meeting here on Monday, requesting the Town of Appomattox not to sell or dispose of the town-owned ball park, and that the park be adequately developed and maintained.

The resolution, presented by Mrs. Joel W. Flood reads: "Be It resolved by the Woman's Club of Appomattox, that we request the Town Council not to sell or dispose of the property or facilities now owned by the Town of Appomattox and known as the Ball Park. We are of the opinion that this property is a valuable asset and is serving the people of the town and community as a recreational center. Not only do we feel that this property should not be sold but we also recommend that the ball park be adequately developed to meet the recreational needs of the citizens of this town as soon as sufficient funds are available."

The first fall meeting of the club was well attended at the school cafeteria, which was designated as the meeting place for the year.

Mrs. Harold Y. Spencer, chairman of the hospitality committee, greeted the members and Mrs. Harry P. Davis served punch and other delicacies from a candle-lighted table bearing an arrangement of early autumn flowers. Other members assisting Mrs. Spencer with the hospitality duties were Mrs. Herbert C. Pulliam, Mrs. Charles R. Thomas and Mrs. Richard D. Robinson.

Mrs. Charles F. P. Crawley, incoming president, presided over the initial fall meeting, assisted by Mrs. David M. Trent, recording secretary. Mrs. Crawley made a brief inaugural address. Mrs. John S. Grinels, treasurer, gave a detailed financial report.

New members accepted into the club last May were extended a welcome by Mrs. Crawley. The new members included Mrs. William W. Richard D. Robinson, Mrs. L. L. Stanley, Miss Flora B. iWilliams Mrs. Frank C. Dresser, Mrs. Walter E. Ferrell and Mrs. Ned A. Wagner. The last three named joining as associate members.

Mrs. Joel W. Flood, representative of the Woman's Club on the Inter Club Council, presented to the club the very sponsoring of a Grass Roots Opera next spring by the Council., which is composed of a representative from the following organizations: Garden Club, Parent-Teacher Association, American Legion, Legion Auxiliary, Woman Club and a member of the Town Council.

Mrs. Roger Norfleet, chairman of the fine arts department, made a motion, which was carried, that the club participate in this project.

Mrs. Crawley urged as many members as possible to attend the district meeting to be held in Brookneal October 1. Mrs. J. A. Burke was named to accompany Mrs. Crawley to Richmond on November 4, as delegates to the Virginia Woman's Club Forum.

Mrs. J. R. Lawson, chairman of the public affairs and legislative department, announced that Attorney General J. Lindsay Almond has tentatively accepted an invitation to address the club at a dinner meeting on November 1.

Legion Ladies Met Monday

Appomattox Unit 104, American Legion Auxiliary met on Monday night, Sept. 13, at the Legion building. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Ivey Holland. Mr. Ivey Holland, 4th District Commander of the American Legion led in the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. Mr. L. C. McKenzie, the unit chaplain, gave the devotional. The Rev. B. T. Price sang "America, the Beautiful," and Patricia Price played several selections on the accordian. This was followed by a talk by Mr. Holland covering the history and purposes of the Legion and the Auxuliary.

Following the program, a social was held, followed in turn by a business session. At the business session the unit voted to send copies of the Flag Code to all groups in the county wishing them, to give $10 to the March of Dimes, and to sponsor a sale of articles for the Blind Therapy Shop and to sponsor a community activity calendar as a money making project.

Oakville P-TA Meets Sept. 23

Appomattox is honored being the native town of one of Virginia's foremost bankers, R. F. B. Steele. Mr. Steele is the president of three banks: Petersburg Savings and American Trust Co., the Colonial Heights Bank, and The Bank of Hopewell.

The Bank of Hopewell opened for business on June 15, 1954. Resources are now over $600,000, and we are advised that resources are expected to reach the $1,000,000 in one year.

Mr. Steele, son of Mrs. W. T. Steele, of Appomattox, and the late Mr. Steele, has received many high honors in the banking field, both in Virginia and in national banking circles. He is a frequent visitor in Appomattox, where he is a director at the Bank of Appomattox and interested in other affairs in the community.

Appomattox Water Supply Still Problem

Appomattox struggled along this week on a disconcerting hit or miss basis as to water pressure. Schools had to be closed here Friday afternoon, when water pressure failed, but that this property should not be sold but we also recommend that the ball park be adequately developed to meet the recreational needs of the citizens of this town as soon as sufficient funds are available."

The first fall meeting of the club was well attended at the school cafeteria, which was designated as the meeting place for the year.

Mrs. Harold Y. Spencer, chairman of the hospitality committee, greeted the members and Mrs. Harry P. Davis served punch and other delicacies from a candle-lighted table bearing an arrangement of early autumn flowers. Other members assisting Mrs. Spencer with the hospitality duties were Mrs. Herbert C. Pulliam, Mrs. Charles R. Thomas and Mrs. Richard D. Robinson.

Mrs. Charles F. P. Crawley, incoming president, presided over the initial fall meeting, assisted by Mrs. David M. Trent, recording secretary. Mrs. Crawley made a brief inaugural address. Mrs. John S. Grinels, treasurer, gave a detailed financial report.

New members accepted into the club last May were extended a welcome by Mrs. Crawley. The new members included Mrs. William W. Richard D. Robinson, Mrs. L. L. Stanley, Miss Flora B. iWilliams Mrs. Frank C. Dresser, Mrs. Walter E. Ferrell and Mrs. Ned A. Wagner. The last three named joining as associate members.

Mrs. Joel W. Flood, representative of the Woman's Club on the Inter Club Council, presented to the club the very sponsoring of a Grass Roots Opera next spring by the Council., which is composed of a representative from the following organizations: Garden Club, Parent-Teacher Association, American Legion, Legion Auxiliary, Woman Club and a member of the Town Council.

Mrs. Roger Norfleet, chairman of the fine arts department, made a motion, which was carried, that the club participate in this project.

Mrs. Crawley urged as many members as possible to attend the district meeting to be held in Brookneal October 1. Mrs. J. A. Burke was named to accompany Mrs. Crawley to Richmond on November 4, as delegates to the Virginia Woman's Club Forum.

Mrs. J. R. Lawson, chairman of the public affairs and legislative department, announced that Attorney General J. Lindsay Almond has tentatively accepted an invitation to address the club at a dinner meeting on November 1.

Poor Quality Causes Low Tobacco Prices

Bright tobacco growers of Southside District, Appomattox County, began marketing their 1954 crop this week as 20 Old Belt flue-cured tobacco markets of Virginia and Piedmont North Carolina opened. Sales Monday found the quality up prices down and volume restricted.

Most markets reported volume of the 50 per cent limit fixed for the first week of sales in the belt.

Declines in average prices by grades ranged from $1 to $11 per hundred. Most were $2 to 6, with the greater losses centered on inferior markettings.

All grade averages reported by the Market News Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture were down except fair orange lugs, which brought 52, an increase of $1 over opening day last year.

Several grade averages were all or only one bid above their respective loan rate. The practical top for individual baskets was $68 per hundredweight.

Most average prices for Old Belt flue-cured tobacco eased off $1 and $2 per hundred yesterday, compared with Tuesday's sales.

Nonedescript and a few primings and lug grades showed small gains, report the U. S., N. C. and Va. departments of agriculture.

Volume of sales was extremely light on the majority of markets. Qdality of offerings continued to decline. Gross sales Tuesday totaled only 2,177,002 pounds, with an average of $54.09. The season's average is $55.38.

Flue-cured leaf is being marketed at warehouse in Brookneal, Chase City, Clarksville, Danville, Kenbridge, Lawrenceville, Martinsville Petersburg, Rocky Mount, South Boston and South Hill.

Forest Fire Bill Totals $1,495

Appomattox County will get a bill for $1,495, for its share of the cost of forest fire fighting and prevention last year. Appomattox had 22 fires, buring over 230.25 acres, according to figures released yesterday.

Bills totaling $130,862.27 went out this month to Virginia counties, the Virginia Forest Service said, for the countyies' part of $838,980.74 spent to control Virginia forest fires during fiscal 1954, which ended on June 30.

U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson yesterday backtracked on his recent highly unpopular "Cross Compliance" order on wheat and restored protection in the right to plant up to 15 acres of wheat on a farm without losing price support on other basic crops.

Fourth District Representative W. M. Abbitt this morning hailed the reversal as a victory for farmers and for the position he had taken, with Representatives W. M. Tuck and Burr Harrison in a strongly worded letter to Benson two weeks ago.

Abbitt declared that the "election results in Maine and elsewhere this week have aided us in this fight for the farmer. Secretary Benson may know about farm problems in the western states, but I am convinced he is not aware of the farm problems in this section."

The local Congressman pointed out that he had followed up the letter on cross-compliance with a telegram to Benson last week, and that he feels the new ruling is a victory for the position he had taken on the issue.

The law states that every farmer can produce 15 acres of wheat regardless of allotment without penalty and without losing support on tobacco or other basic crops. The Benson cross-compliance order would have cut out this protection for a farm where up to 15 acres of wheat was produced for home use or livestock feed. Benson yesterday reserved the cross-compliance order as to wheat and the 15 acre protection on any farm.

The cross-compliance order as to wheat had caused considerable concern in this section. Believing that they were within the law, many farmers had planted up to 15 acres of wheat, and feared that they would lose price support on tobacco and other farm benefits. Abbitt took the lead in carrying a protest on the ruling.
